AN EDUCATION WORKSHOP

May 17
9AM-3PM
UNIV. OF THE SCIENCES
4101 WOODLAND AVE
ROOM 110. PHILADELPHIA
breakfast & lunch provided

STEM++ believes that new approaches to STEM can radically increase the number of underrepresented students and girls who succeed along STEM pathways from preK through college and beyond. We believe: Improving the “who” of STEM requires improving the “how” & “why” & “to what end” of STEM — transforming STEM education through empathy, changemaking, entrepreneurship and creativity.

In this workshop, you’ll learn more about the STEM++ work, our beginnings in the San Francisco Bay Area, our national conferences, and our work developing resources and opportunities for the STEM ecosystem.
